

WHAT IS EXTENDED SCHOOL YEAR?

Extended school year services (ESY) are special education services available to students with disabilities during extended school breaks. These services are available to students that fulfill two criteria: regression of skills during the breaks and someone with limited ability to benefit from reteachings after a break. In addition, if a student is on a path of learning a new skill that helps enable independence then this also would apply and should be considered by the IEP team.

We can be the team that not only ensures your child receives these necessary services, but also provide staff support to ensure that during breaks your child does not regress. The difference between ESY and summer school is that ESYs are catered on an individual basis per the IEP and not for all students as summer school is.

Expatriate is trained on when to apply these necessary services.

WE CAN HELP YOUR CHILD SUCCEED

Let's close the achievement gap for your child. Students with disabilities have low achievement scores compared to their peers. Ensure your child receives the best inclusive special education experience so that they don't fall behind.
